

Refresh Your Communications Technology

Can you afford to rip out and replace your telephone system?

We all need to compete, but are sometimes held back by aging and increasingly inefficient technology. Budget constraints to update systems often prove to be stumbling blocks on the road to progress. As a result, companies often fall behind their competitors and lose business as a result.

How old is your telephone system?

How much will it cost if you don't?

Most businesses keep their telephone system for an average of 6 years. During that time money has probably been invested in both additional hardware and software upgrades. However, the capability of the system often falls behind to requirements of the business to move forward and become more efficient. Rather than being forced into a major and costly 'forklift' replacement, Digital IP can offer a smooth migration strategy for clients, allowing you to maintain your existing architecture AND take advantage of all the benefits available with IP technology.

to discuss how you can benefit from a technology upgrade that will help your business reduce costs and increase customer experience.

Reduce costs and increase productivity.

Why Migrate?

- Existing system is old or end of life
- New features and functionality cannot be added
- Lack of resilience
- Hard to manage
- Less financial impact
- Forced to compromise

Benefits of Migration

- Move at your own pace within your budget
- Retain your valuable investment in legacy infrastructure
- Recognise cost savings and productivity enhancements
- Homeworking made easy
- Enhanced resiliency and easy to manage
- Improve customer service
- Integration between applications and devices such as mobile
- Hot desking
- Advanced conferencing capabilities

Is the cost of your maintenance going UP UP UP?

Contact Digital IP today to discuss how you can benefit from a technology upgrade that will help your business reduce costs and increase customer experience.
